Welcome to Blundellsands

D. G. Bowman
President 1990-91

On behalf of our members, I warmly welcome both the English and Welsh Squads to Waterloo this afternoon. This is the second time Waterloo have hosted a Womens' International and I hope todays' game is as enjoyable as the fixture between England and Sweden.

It was the season after that international that the Waterloo side formed and their impact on the club in such a short time has brought us all great pleasure.

I hope you all enjoy your day at Blundellsands.

Yours sincerely,

WELCOME TO WATERLOO F.C.

Most of our spectators today will think it is unusual for us to welcome ladies to Blundellsands to play rugby football.

During the past few years, a few of us have seen a number of games and we have been surprised at the high standard of football which has been most enjoyable to watch.

It is therefore with special pleasure today we welcome the players and officials of the first womens rugby international between England and Sweden which has been ably organised by the WRFU (Northern Division) Committee.

I wish both teams the very best of luck and I know that everyone will acknowledge the serious confirmation of a new established sport for the ladies and appreciate the high standard of play at the same time.

Brian H. Calvert, President

Welcome to Waterloo F.C. for the first international between England and Sweden. We further extend a warm welcome to our visitors from Sweden and look forward to an entertaining game of Rugby football.

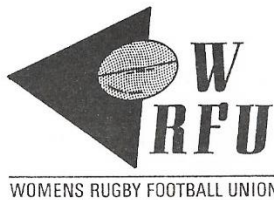

This season the W.R.F.U. can look forward to four international fixtures. Today's match between England and Sweden, then on November 27th Wales play Holland in Utrecht, and in February England are at home to Wales. The final international of the season, on March 4th sees the fourth meeting between Great Britain and France in what will be their most closely contested meeting to date, after Great Britain were narrowly defeated by six points to eight in the final of the European Cup last May.

Indeed, today's match highlights the growth of women's rugby. Not only are more women playing rugby but more countries are producing national sides. One such team are our guests today.

Finally on behalf of the W.R.F.U. I would like to thank our sponsors for their generous help and support, our hosts Waterloo F.C., and the Northern Regional Committee of the W.R.F.U. who have worked hard to ensure that today's international is a success,

Yours in Rugby,
Carolyn B. Mann
(Secretary - W.R.F.U.)

Five years since the Womens Rugby Football Union (W.R.F.U.) was formed by twelve clubs, the growth and strength of the womens game continues to surprise. The first games of womens rugby were played ten years ago in this country and now with over 60 clubs in Wales, England and Scotland, we are the largest and fastest growing Union in Europe.

Womens rugby is administered by women who are still playing the game. This enables the W.R.F.U. to react quickly to the needs of the clubs. Leagues were introduced in 1986 (one year before the R.F.U.!) and the format has been changed each year as the game grows and develops. There is no doubt that increased competition has improved the standard of womens rugby considerably.

The first W.R.F.U. international in 1986 involved Great Britain against old rivals France. The fourth encounter between these two will be in March next year and Britain are highly favoured to win for the first time. Holland became an international opponent in 1987 and Wales travel there in December for their first overseas fixture. Today's game we hope, will be the first of many against Sweden for whom it is their first International.

After the progress of the last five years it is certain that the growth of womens rugby in Europe will accelerate helped by the newly formed European Federation. In Britain, it is hoped that a Sports Council grant will be obtained so that the W.R.F.U. has the resources to aid the many new teams and mens clubs who are trying to establish their own womens teams. The commitment of all those involved in womens rugby will be needed to host the next European Cup in Britain in 1991.

One of the most pleasing aspects of the last five years has been the support of the R.F.U., particularly the coaching staff and the English clubs. Waterloo F.C. have been tremendously helpful in the organisation of today's game. The W.R.F.U. wish to thank the President and the club. We hope that the game will justify their support of this first womens rugby international in the North of England.

On behalf of the Womens' Rugby Football Union I would like to welcome officials, players and supporters to Blundellsands today. This is the second womens international to be hosted by Waterloo F.C. and I am sure todays will be as successful as the first.

I would like to thank Mowlem for sponsoring todays match and all other sponsors and advertisers for their contributions.

The inaugural Womens Rugby World Cup takes place next month in South Wales with the final being played at Cardiff Arms Park on Sunday April 14th. It is a shame we have not been able to secure the same television coverage for this the re scheduled game, but I hope what is shown will help the the World Cup organising committee promote the sport and find sponsorship for the tournament. I am sure that todays match will be as good an advert for the Womens game as last years thrilling encounter at Neath.

It is also a pleasure to welcome Scottish International Panel referee, Mr David Leslie. It is a notable first to have a neutral panel referee in a womens international.

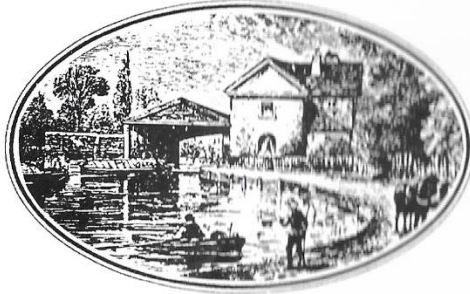

Finally, I would like to thank Waterloo club members for their hard work in organising todays match.

Rosie Golbie

Secretary Womens' Rugby Football Union.
